

HITACHI ROLLS OUT SYSTEMS PLANT IN TN

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI APRIL 16

Japanese auto component maker, Hitachi Automotive systems launched their automotive components and systems plants at One Hub industrial park near Chennai. With an investment of about ₹313 crore, the new plant will produce Valve Timing Control Systems (VTCs) and ignition coils by October this year. Kunihiko Ohhuma, chairman and CEO of the company told that they will expand its automotive component business in a wide range of areas including car information devices and repair and aftermarket parts businesses. The company has got 24 acres of land for the plant. The plant will generate over 230 jobs by this year-end and the production will cater to domestic and international markets as well.
